

Focus: Wer ich bin: Das Selbstkonzept / Exploring self-identity in the German-speaking world

Logic: An exploration and comparison of young adults' identity in the American English- and German-speaking worlds through the study and analysis of the different roles they assume in contemporary society.

Themes: Groups/roles with which young adults are affiliated (Student; Hobbyist; Family member; Consumer; Tourist; Citizen)

For each group/theme/role, please list grammatical topics that one would have to call on when discussing said topic in first-year German:

Student: what one studies, wears, eats, discusses, wants to become; who one is, living away from home; how one lives	Hobbyist: what one likes to do; who one is; to which clubs does one belong; what one collects	Family member: what one's role is within the family; how one celebrates holidays	Consumer: what one buys / how one shops; how one deals with money;	Traveler / Tourist: where one travels / what one sees; the places that one knows	Citizen / Passport holder: where one belongs; who one is; to what community/region one belongs; where one's Heimat is present tense; nominative; accusative; coord conjunctions; telling time; time adverbs; separable prefix verbs; possessives	present tense; dative case; dative verbs; reflexive verbs; subordinating conjunctions (wenn , weil , möchte + dass); modals (Talente); prepositions (acc, dat, 2-way);	present tense; genitive (der Bruder meiner Schwester); present perfect tense (als Kind); simple past tense of modals; time adverbs; imperative; ordinal numbers	present tense; reflexive verbs (Hygiene); subjunctive (ich hätte gern; was ich machen würde, wenn ich Geld hätte); simple past; infinitive clauses; da- & wo- compounds; imperative; 2-way prepositions	present tense; past tenses; prepositions (einen Ort beschreiben); subjunctive (Traumstadt); adjective endings; comparative & superlative; relative clauses; conjunctions;	present tense; subordinating conjunctions; past tenses; relative clauses; comparative; adjective endings